

Gentlemen-

Hope all is well.

I was contacted yesterday by former Marine Captain Steve Folan regarding manufacturing positions with Temple-Inland in Aurora. Temple-Inland recently completed a $71 million facility in Aurora and is having difficulty keeping it's hourly positions filled due to the technical nature of the job. They are able to count on the Marine they currently have at the plant and of course they would like to staff these positions with more Marines.

These positions are available now.

The facility runs three shifts, five days a week. It's not overly physically demanding work, just technically oriented. The pay is competitive (overtime is available also).

After talking to Steve, this sounds like a great opportunity to work at a great company with former Marines at every level. Steve has been with Temple-Inland for 26 years.

Any help would be greatly appreciated.

Send any interested Marines my info and have them to contact me as soon as possible.

Semper Fi,
